GRADUATE
of the class of 1934

Rockford College
Rockford, Illinois
1933

To you, who came new-titled here as dean
On that same golden autumn afternoon
When we, with quick and eager glances, drove
Into the court as Freshmen; you who are
A friend to share our pleasure, fill our need,
A woman ever-gracious and most wise,
We dedicate this book, a living sign
Of admiration, gratitude, and love,
A record of the song you helped create.

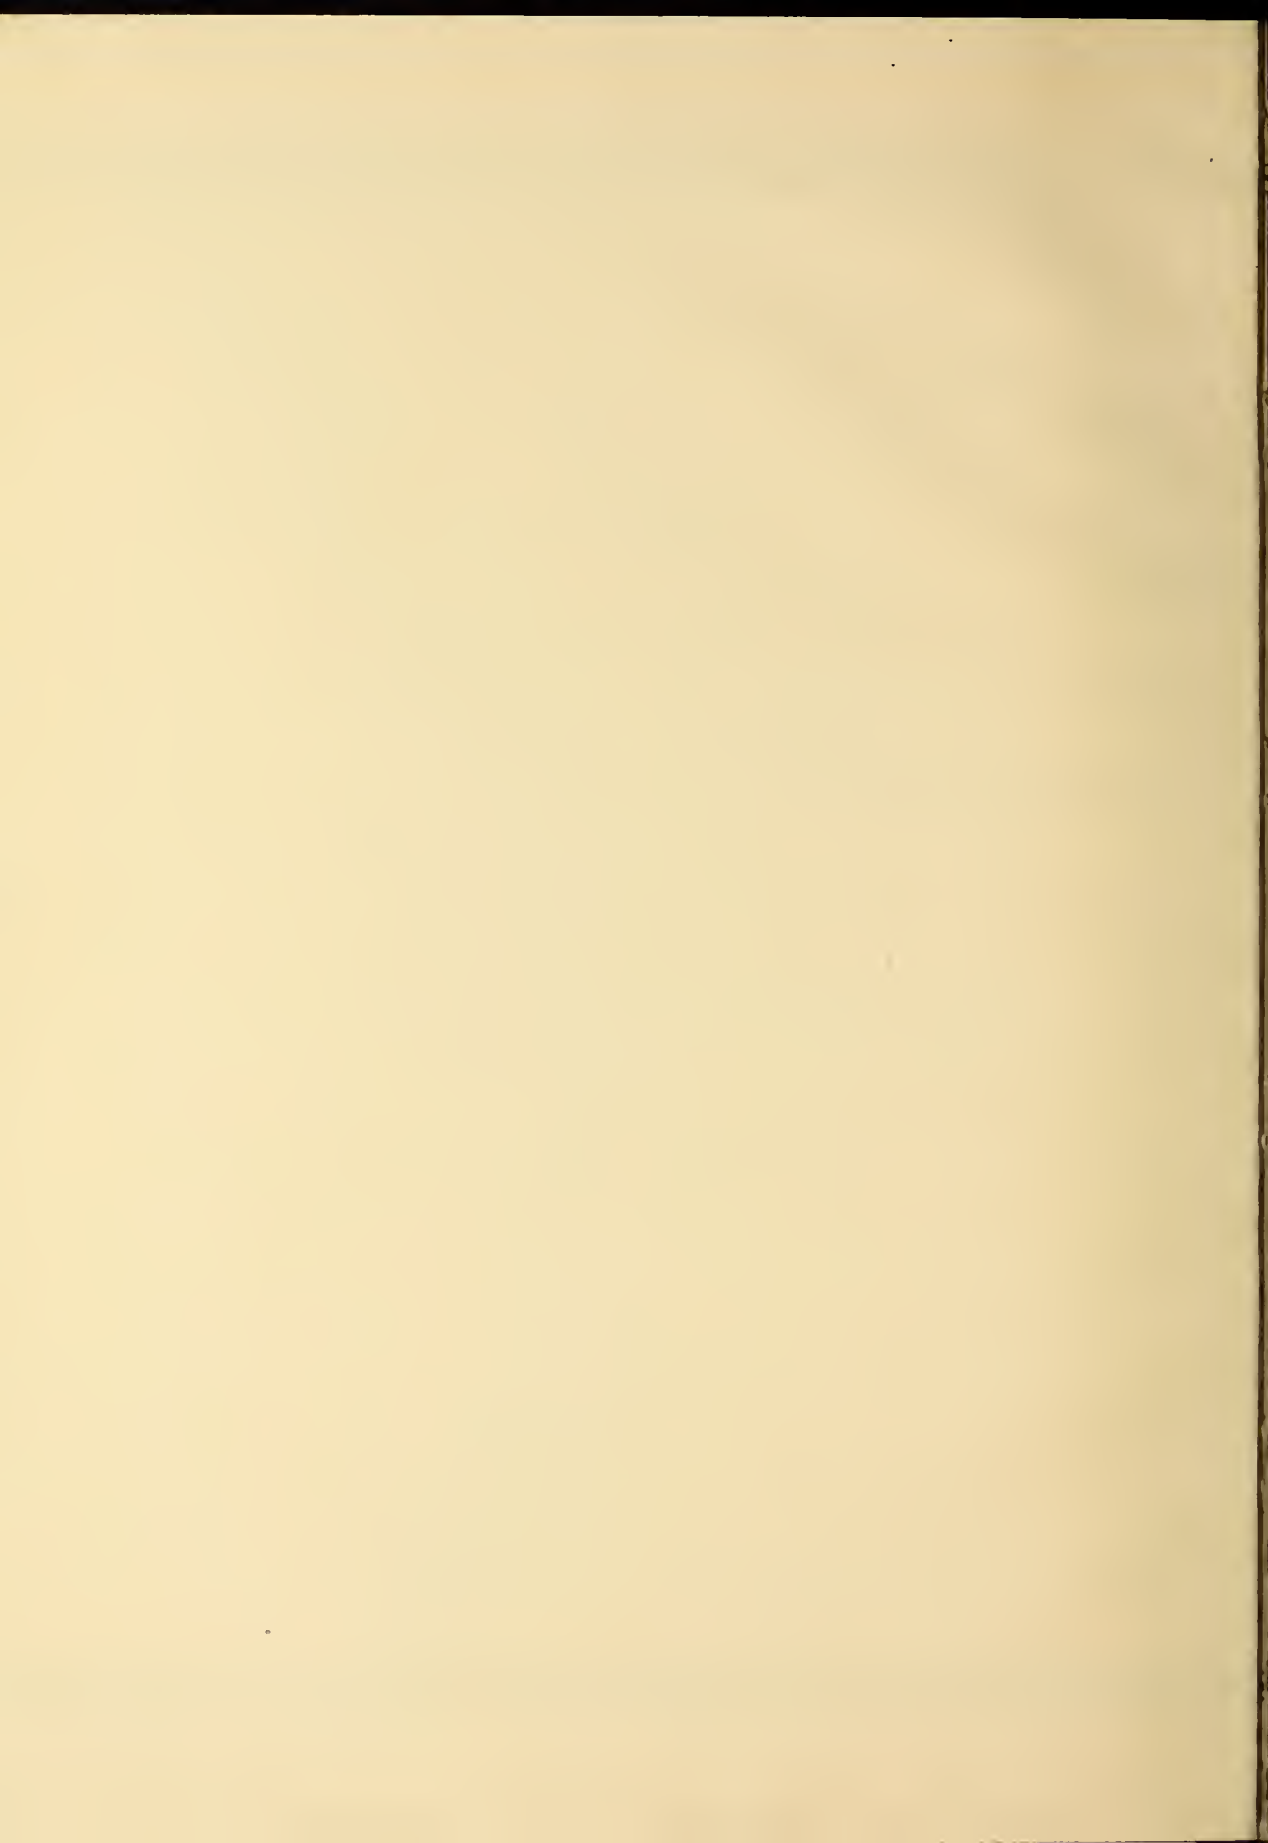

MARY L. MUTSCHLER

Life is the pattern of a hundred songs:
Gay, simple rhymes from children's laughing lips,
The rage and prayer of adolescent girls
And boys who seek bright visions which they hope
Will yet prove true. But our few college years
Are more complex, present us varied themes
From which we must create a symphony,
Composed artistically by wisdom gained
As actors, athletes, poets, scientists,
And college governors. So take this book,
Chronicle of this harmony of life
In Rockford College, life which had its source
In every individual and will find
Fulfilment in our acts as women grown.
This song of what we have been, are, foretells
The melody of what we still would be.

Within his heart a troubadour once found
The ancient charm which spells eternal life,
And sang his song. This melody of love,
Timeless as swallow's flight, has softly winged
Its way into the soul of Youth; and while
Ten thousand voices speed its truth and hope,
The echo will not die. Our hearts respond
To nature as she shapes her Beauty here:
To blue-gray shadows, which are leafy still,
Upon the snow; to soft, green grass in May
Where we may dance in tune with festal joy.
We reverence the ivy-tangled walls;
And silent thoughts in consecrated place
Mature our spirits for a ripper song.

SONGS WE HAVE SUNG HERE

*Songs we have sung here,
Songs of happy college years,
Bring us sweet mem'ries,
Which thy love endears.*

*Though we soon must leave you,
And from college friends must part,
Our love bequeath you;
Ever hold our hearts.*

*Rockford, Rockford College,
May your spirit be our guide!
Rockford, Rockford College,
Happy times betide!*

*Rockford, to thee thy daughters turn
With ever-loving eyes;
Thy name upon our hearts shall burn;
Thy mem'ry fragrant lies.*

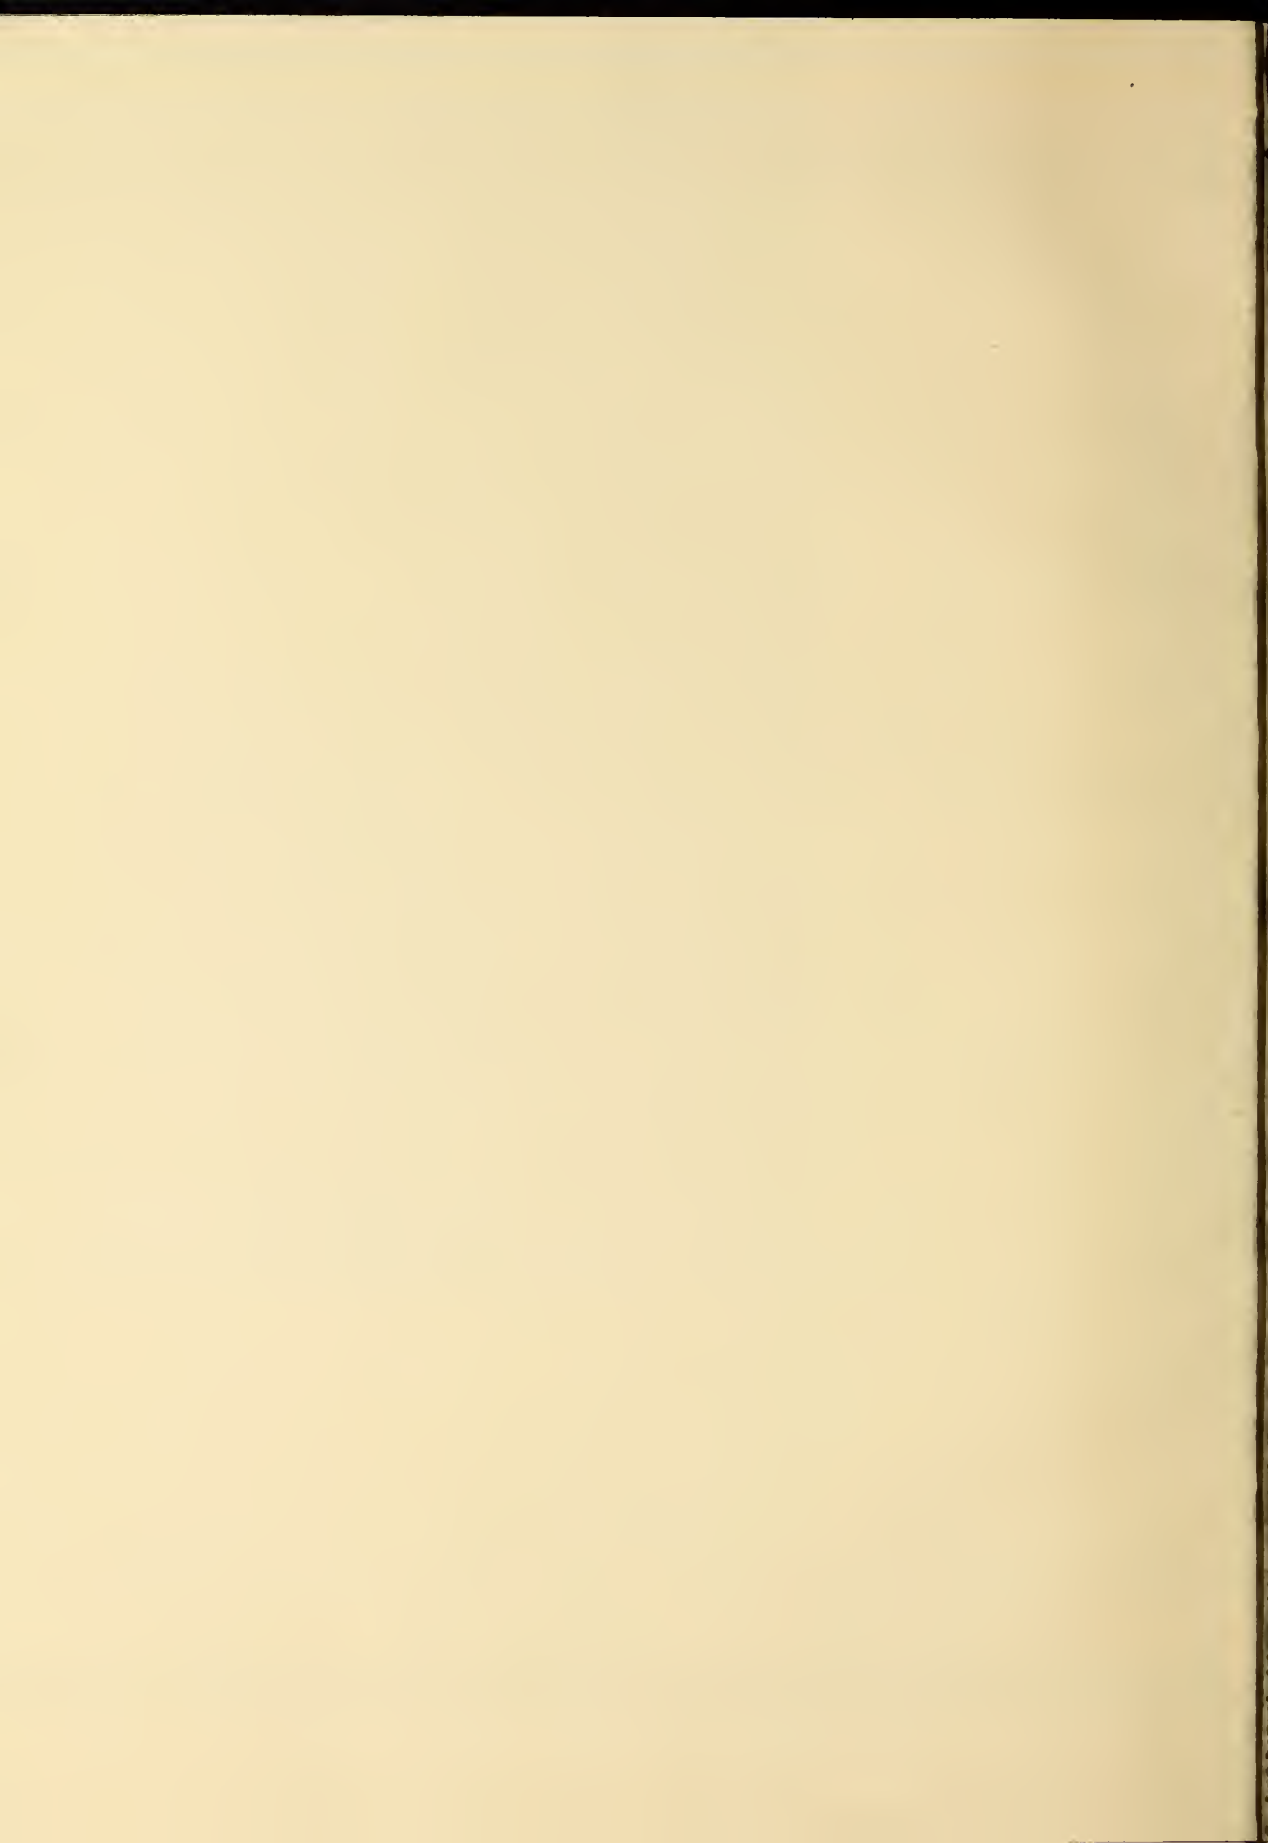

*There's a college enterprising,
Expectations realizing,
And she keeps serenely rising
To the top, tip-top.*

*We will sing for Rockford College,
For her purple and her white;
We will sing for Rockford College,
And we'll sing with all our might.*

M E L O D Y

The wandering troubadour was first to catch
The simple tune and thought of common life
And fit them to a universal theme;
For beauty ever reaches out to truth,
And individual faith, a blind ideal,
Resolves itself into a quest for truth.
A motive, longing for united life,
Resounds in single mode throughout our song.
Each voice joins in and adds a note, until
Our souls, at last aware, become as One,
And every mind awakes to recognize
Essentials in the modulating whole.

'Rockford without its faculty
Is like a cart without a horse,
Is like a sundae without its ice cream,
Is like a stream without a source.
The faculty without its Rockford
Is like a golf ball without a tee,
And the only thing that's worse on earth
Is Rockford without its faculty.'

The bass for this melodic staff,
These members of administration:
With fundamental instruments
They form the right relation
Between the academic life
And others' lives; with social rule,
With food for body and for mind,
They nourish and direct the school.

The artists take their place as tenors;
Their well-trained, skilful tones denote
That song must come to rhythmic tune
From drill and practice of each single note.
Piano, voice, and violin,
The tools of music, that fine art,
Not less than pencil, paint, and brush,
New power and eager joy impart.

We represent with alto pitch
The teacher of specific rules
By which all scientists may find
The facts on which to found new schools.
Provident are the men who toil,
Establishing the factual true,
That they may see the future case
And know and teach us what to do.

Soprano voices fill our ears
With music of man's literature—
In every tongue the human cry
Of what man ever must endure,
What he has suffered, dreamed, and thought,
All written down in various ways;
These scholars bid us learn to love
The story of eventful days.

'Where, O where are the verdant Freshmen?
Where, O where are the verdant Freshmen?
Where, O where are the verdant Freshmen?
Safe now in the Soph'more class.
They've gone out from their Orientation,
They've gone out from their Orientation,
They've gone out from their Orientation.
Safe now in the Soph'more class.

Where, O where are the gay young Soph'mores?
Where, O where are the gay young Soph'mores?
Where, O where are the gay young Soph'mores?
Safe now in the Junior class.
They've gone out from required subjects,
They've gone out from required subjects,
They've gone out from required subjects.
Safe now in the Junior class.

Where, O where are the jolly Juniors?
Where, O where are the jolly Juniors?
Where, O where are the jolly Juniors?
Safe now in the Senior class.
They're enjoying major subjects,
They're enjoying major subjects,
They're enjoying major subjects,
Safe now in the Senior class.

Where, O where are the grand old Seniors?
Where, O where are the grand old Seniors?
Where, O where are the grand old Seniors?
Safe now in the wide, wide world.
They've gone out from their Alma Mater,
They've gone out from their Alma Mater,
They've gone out from their Alma Mater,
Safe now in the wide, wide world.'

'Father Time is a crafty man,
And he's set in his ways,
And we know that we never can
Make him bring back past days.
So, Freshmen, while we are here,
Let's be friends kind and true;
Let's have a gay time
While we have play time,
For we all think a lot of you.'

'Grant, O Sun-God, thy protection;
Guard our living through the dawning;
Spirit living, spirit resting,
Guard us, lead us, aid us, love us, Sun-God;
Spirit living, spirit resting,
Guard us, lead us, aid us, love us, Sun-God, forever.'

‘Come, let us sing, O Juniors,
Sing to the ivy green,
Round all our hearts entwined
With its glossy sheen;
Growing for college fealty,
Growing for days to be,
Ivy, the truest symbol
Of loyalty, Rockford, to thee.’

'Day to wisdom dedicate,
Make our understandings grow;
Thoughts be supple, deep, and kind,
As you now your truth bestow;
Wear we now symbolically
Vestments of maturity.'

Four years of happiness behind us lie;
At last we stand, in grace and wisdom grown,
Before the door, and looking backward see
The perfect whole in sudden symmetry.

Our hearts are high; with banners all unfurled
We march upon the future and the world.
Upon our lips, although we sing alone,
The song of truth and beauty shall not die.

Seniors, Juniors, gather 'round;
Sophomores, see what we have found;
Here are Freshmen in queer garb,
Here expressions strange abound,—

Long black robes on a rainy day,
Smiling rows in white array,
On the campus strolling girls,
Sundial lovers, quiet—gay.

H A R M O N Y

The sun records each happy hour, and blends
Its light with darker days, when youthful minds
Fail to discern the true from grossly false.
By marked diversity our lives are led
To greater unity, and when we watch
The processes of things, we note the part
Each individual must play to make
The tone and mood of his own song accord
With those we all must sing—for harmony.
Thus shadows on the dial have marked the years
When concord framed a pattern out of thought,
Enriching it with strains of love and joy,
So that our life grew into mellow song.

‘For ideals that are inspired,
For sportsmanship clear and true
And a strength for a bigger life
We shall ever look up to you.
Follow, follow, follow the gleam,
Standards of worth
O’er all the earth.
Follow, follow, follow the gleam
Of the light that shall lead the way.’

CHRISTMAS VESPER SERVICE

'For lo! the days are hast'ning on,
By prophets seen of old,
When with the ever-circling years
Shall come the time fore-told,
When the new heav'n and earth shall own
The Prince of Peace their king,
And the whole world send back the song
Which now the angels sing.'

SOCRATIC HONORARY SOCIETY

He really wears the ancient laurel crown
Who does not cherish it alone but sees
Its promise of a greater day; who knows
The need for knowledge rightly used and plans
His life to fit the work and aims of those
In whom wise values have been well fulfilled,
And yet who reaches on toward that ideal
Still not attained;—who, like Prometheus,
Can see ahead and throw his light to all.

ALPHA THETA HONORARY SOCIETY

Though music be a winging flight of chords
Which soars through intense feeling, swoops again
To level paths of quiet thought and tone,
Yet is it nothing, if the singing strain,
By ears and wistful hearts all unattended,
Uplifts its notes into the empty air.
They are true music lovers who know this:
That beauty never dies which artists share.

The music trilled wild and sweet
Through the happy air,
And those who listened loved it
And longed to keep it there.

But it was hard to follow—
'Twas like the song of birds
Until somebody fashioned
The thing it lacked, the words.

Now many pens have captured
A certain useful key,
The verbal comprehension
Of earth's fine melody.

The harmony of school life
Will quickly pass away,
But an echo still must linger,
And a memory always stay.

This record of the Juniors
May help us find the strain,
As through pages of the Cupola
We live those days again.

Parrots are not musical;
They squawk and talk with zest;
But ours is such as nightingales
Would welcome to the nest.

Trained to vary with the scale,
Her voice has depth and range,
She sings all notes that she has caught,
However fresh and strange.

Music hiding all about;
Rhythm in plain prose.
Who will say there is no song
Latent in the rose?
Writers come from every nook,
Strike a pleasing note;
Taper is the symphony
Expressing what they wrote.

'Now, bring back that prom dress I lent you,
And bring back my coat and my furs;
I'm needing my gloves for tomorrow,
And Jane said to ask you for hers.'

UNDERSEA INFORMAL

Once in a life time,
Or rarer maybe,
A man and a maid
Dance under the sea
With lobsters and fish
In dim blue glow.
Davy Jones' locker
A sea chest—what ho!

MOCK PROM

'There's a college in the grand old
State of Illinois;
If you have a daughter, send her
But don't send a boy.
If you want more information,
Ask the maidens there;
They will tell you it's the finest
Place that's anywhere.'

WASHINGTON PARTY

'Oh, February is a month
With many a famous son:
Virginia is the state from which
All truly great men come.
To her we owe our gratitude;
She gave us Washington
And William Maddox, too.'

Keep for yourselves the silent static word
That hides within the pages of a book;
And yours be, too, the joy from music heard,
And any that can be derived from look
At pictures, play, or other spectacle.
Such pleasures are all right enough for you;
But give me games, where art is actual,
Where running feet will beat their own tattoo;
Where panting lungs and steady-pounding heart
Maintain my strength and power as they ought,
Cleaning my brain of dusty, tangled thought,
Shaking it free of second-handed art.
Let me with my own body learn to be
Creator of a mobile artistry.

J. F.

'Hockey makes us feel so happy,
Drives away the blues;
We feel better when we play it
If we win or lose.
Hockey, hockey, how we love you,
Peppy, snappy game;
We'll stick by you though you make us
Deaf, dumb, blind, and lame.'

'Hello, Seniors, talking to you,
And the Freshman, we'll greet you too;
Orange, yellow, the green and the blue,
Hello, team-mates, we're all for you.
We take off our hats to players like you;
We like the fight for the rising score;
We love the thrilling things to do
On the basketball floor.'

'Once there came some wimmin
To watch us all go swimmin'
And display our style,
Just like Pharoah's daughters
Bathing in the Nile.
Splashing in the pool's bright waters
Leaves us with a smile.'

The modern dance has its devotees
Who learn to leap and to fall with ease,
Who move in strong, deliberate strides,
Swinging their bodies as music provides;
They may swirl close to earth rise, gradually higher,
Then fling up their arms—to portray leaping fire.
Whatever idea these dancers relate
Is first in their minds before they create.

'Some think that college is a place of leisure;
Tut-tut, tut-tut! tut-tut, tut-tut!
Some think that study is our greatest pleasure;
Tut-tut, tut-tut! tut-tut, tut-tut!
But we at Rockford know the spice of life is Variety—variety.
And so we mix our work and play together
Most merrily, most merrily.'

ANDROCLES AND THE LION

BY GEORGE BERNARD SHAW

Lavinia: I'll strive for the coming of the God who is not yet.

The Captain: May I come and argue with you occasionally?

Lavinia: Yes, handsome Captain,
you may.

The Emperor: And now, my friends,
though I do not, as you see,
fear this lion, yet the strain of his presence is considerable; for none of us can feel quite sure what he will do next.

CAST

BY TOM ROBERTSON

Hawtree: Caste!—the inexorable law of caste.
The social law, so becoming and so good,
that commands like to mate with like, and forbids a giraffe to fall in love with a squirrel.

George: But my dear Bark—

Hawtree: My dear Dal, all those marriages of people with common people are all very well in novels and plays on the stage, because the real people don't exist, and have no relatives who exist, and no connections, and so no harm's done, and it's rather interesting to look at...

Melodies of spring
Come sweetly to the ear;
Promises they bring
Of May-day drawing near.

Gay day, our May-day;
The pole with ribbons bound;
Festive and joyous
Will Amaryllis sound.

Then come with dancing, come with song
To play upon the green.
Violets, lift thy dewy heads
And crown a lovely queen.

JANE BURRILL

Our last year's queen of gentle grace,
The symbol of a noble mind,
We learned to love your friendly face;
We found that you were kind.

You taught us all by practising
What books alone cannot impart;
When we asked your philosophy,
You answered, 'Life is Art.'

‘She must be representative of the spirit of Rockford College. She shall be enthusiastic in her loyalties, temperate in conduct, and dignified and gracious in bearing. She shall be widely interested and generously sympathetic, and hence related to the life of every group. She shall have thought constructively for the welfare of the college and have shown both conviction and courage in upholding its ideals.’

KATHARINE RAWSON

Of three loved girls
One is the 'queen;'
These follow her
Across the green.

ANN WALKER

PAULINE FISHER

These two who served,
Who helped her gain
The honored place.
Are in her train.

POSTLUDE

Our heritage from distant years we pledge
To years that come: our song, our harmony
Will live when discord dies. The arching vine
That droops its swinging tentacles and shades
The fragrant hollow; shrilling birds that screech
And chatter in the ivy; blossoms, white
And faintly mottled, on catalpa trees—
All these we love, all these, and what they mean
To each of us, we leave to you who take
Our place; this bond with you and with the past
We form for decus and for veritas.

— 10 —

*'She stands upon a quiet hill
Beside a lordly stream,
And maidens come from far and near
To follow her bright gleam.'*

*Nor low'ring sky nor winter keen
Fair mem'ries shall deface;
Thy halls amid the glowing green
Wear ever springtime grace.*

*Come, let us sing to our dear R. C.
We'll always love her where'er we be;
Our thoughts will linger still close to thee;
Our Alma Mater Rockford shall be.*

DECUS ET VERITAS

*Our strong bond shall ne'er be broken
Formed at dear R. C.
Take we now a pledge unspoken
To be true to thee.*

Rockford, Decus et Veritas;
*Deep graven on each heart.
We'll be fond, unwav'ring, true,
Till we from life must part.*

*Rockford, love for thee shines pure,
As bright as evening star,
Rockford loyalty'll endure
Though we be near or far.*

Rockford, Decus et Veritas:
*Deep graven on each heart.
We'll be fond, unwav'ring, true,
Till we from life must part.*

*'O! good-by-ee! don't you cry-ee—
Wipe the tear, Rockford dear, from your eye-ee.
O! it's hard to part, I know,
And we're far from tickled to death to go.
So good-by-ee! don't you cry-ee—
There's a silver lining in the sky-ee.
Fare thee well, old thing;
Cheerio, come sing;
You'll be here another year,
So good-by-ee!'*
